Attached for your signature are thank you letters for the CBS Television Studio tour to Mr. Norvet (Tab A) and Mr. Stanton (Tab B). We have not yet received from Norvet the list of all those who participated, but I thought you would want to send out prompt thank-you's for a great afternoon.

Dear Mr. Norvet:

Your thoughtfulness resulted in a very exciting experience not only for my children, but for all of us youngsters, at the CBS Studios this past Thursday. Elizabeth, David, the Lords and Vicki Driscoll join me in thanking you and your staff for the imaginative schedule that you arranged for us, from lunch all the way through the Merv Griffin rehearsal.

We enjoyed meeting your colleagues and the many television stars, whose autographs I am happy to report my kids have managed not to lose to date. They are still talking about seeing many of their favorite performers, getting their pictures taken, and sharpshooting milk bottles at 50 yards. We all learned a great deal while having fun.

Again my thanks for the delightful respite from the pressures of world events, and for taking time out from your responsibilities to personally shepherd us around. I look forward to receiving a list of those others we met who helped to shape such a memorable afternoon.

Best regards,

Henry A. Kissinger

Dear Frank,

I want to thank you for helping to arrange a delightful afternoon at the CBS Television Studios in Los Angeles this past Thursday for my children, the Winston Lords (he is on my staff), and Miss Driscoll, who was helping me take care of the kids.

Mr. Norvet and his colleagues arranged an imaginative schedule that included an informal lunch, the filming of several TV shows and rehearsal for the Merv Griffin show, and meetings with many of my children's favorite performers, who cheerfully signed autographs and had their pictures taken. Mr. Norvet took several hours of his time to escort us around personally and loaded down Elizabeth and David with gifts.

It was a memorable occasion for us all. We shall repay you by pushing up CBS Nielsen ratings with faithful tuning in of your network's shows, including the ones we saw in the making.

Warm regards,
